- The organisation must qualify as a social economy SME and as an SME within the meaning of the official EU SME definition.
- The organisation must carry out their productive activities in the blue economy.

DEFINITIONS

Definition of Social Economy SMEs for the purposes of the Bluedots call

For the purposes of this call, applicants must qualify both as SMEs and as entities of the social economy operating in the blue economy.

For the definition of SMEs, please refer to the official EU SME definition: https://single-market-economy.ec.europa.eu/smes/sme-definition_en

The social economy covers entities that place people and a social and/or environmental purpose before profit, reinvest most of their surpluses in the collective or general interest, and apply democratic and/or participatory governance.

Traditionally, this includes cooperatives, mutual benefit societies, associations, foundations, and social enterprises, depending on the national legal framework.

In the context of Bluedots, eligible applicants are social economy SMEs carrying out productive activities in the blue economy, including for example fisheries, aquaculture, coastal and maritime tourism, marine renewable energy, blue biotechnology, maritime services, water-related community services, circular blue value chains, and other marine or coastal activities.

These enterprises may adopt digital tools and services to improve sustainability, efficiency, traceability, resource use, organisational performance, or access to markets, while remaining anchored in the principles of the social economy.

The core eligibility criterion is therefore not a generic reference to blue and digital enterprises, but the applicant's nature as a social economy SME active in the blue economy.

Applications that are in one of the following situations are excluded:

- a) They are in bankruptcy proceedings, liquidation, judicial settlement proceedings, have ceased trading, are the subject of proceedings to that effect, or are in a similar situation arising from similar proceedings under national laws and regulations;
- b) They or persons with powers of representation, decision-making or control have been convicted of an offense by a final judgment of a competent court of a Member State that calls into question their professional reliability;
- c) they have committed a serious professional misconduct that has been proven by the contracting party, including through decisions of the European Investment Bank and international organizations;
- d) They have failed to comply with your obligations to pay social security contributions or taxes in accordance with the laws of the country in which you are established, or in accordance with the laws of the country of the contracting party or the country in which the contract is to be performed;
- e) they or persons with powers of representation, decision-making or control have been convicted by a final judgment for fraud, corruption, involvement in a criminal organization, money laundering or any other illegal activity affecting the financial interests of the Union;
- f) an administrative penalty has been imposed on them for having made false declarations or failed to provide the information required by the contracting authority as a condition for participation in a procurement procedure, or for having seriously breached their obligations under a contract covered by the budget;
- g) they are in a conflict of interest in relation to a potential contract; a conflict of interest could arise in particular on the basis of economic interests, political or national affiliation, family or emotional ties, or other relevant connections or shared interests.
